An Appreciation

Well, we have seen her—we have heard her. Who? Why, Peg, of course. "Peg of My Heart" came to town last Tuesday. Now, "Peg of My Heart" is the name of a play; "Peg" is the heart of the play; and Peg it is who wins all hearts. In fact, that is what she did to ours. We made her acquaintance across the footlights; and now we do not wonder at the endearing name the locals, "Well, vint," exclaimed Julius Caesar of old. And today "Peg of My Heart" can say, with no less truth, "I came, I saw, I conquered."

A company of such excellent calibre as that of the players with whose presence we have this week been honored is seen but too seldom in these parts. Such a visit affords a rare treat as an opportunity not to be missed. The play is that on the recent occasion the house was not more nearly filled to capacity. We have been given a worthy presentation by a strong cast, and if, in this case, because of her faithful interpretation and consummate artistry, we single out the leading lady for special mention, no one, sincerely, will begrudge her the honor.

The play as a whole—what shall we say of it? It is a simple story, and true to life. Outstanding as the points of a triangle are its healthy philosophy of life, its rich, wholesome Irish humor, and its sweet, heart-compelling touches of pathos. In those frequent moments of strength of its appeal. It is a play that grips—a play, moreover, that leaves a good taste in the mouth. As we saw and heard it the other evening, there was in it nothing that anyone would need to be ashamed of, and much that we would all like to hold in memory. It is a play that, if anyone could see and feel that play, and then, with the spell of it upon him, they would go out and do a mean act, that person must surely be an abnormal specimen of humanity. One came away glad that he went, and convinced that he wouldn't have missed it for a great deal. Let us have more of this stamp of play, and the world will be the better and the happier for it.

We thank you, Peg. You made us laugh; and for that we are glad. We laughed spontaneously, heartily, even recklessly—out of pure good humor and unalloyed sympathy with your own buoyant spirit and irrepressible wit. We thank you. What if the eye became moist, and the breath sometimes faltered? All that was but the way in which we answered your appeal to that which is ever the noblest in man and the proudest in woman. Come again, Peg, we will say. Come again, as often as you like, and quite as often we shall accord you an Irish welcome.

—E. H. GRAY.

Thieves Are Captured

A second raid was made by the burglars on Friday night of last week, when the store of the Blairmore Hardware Co. was entered through a side door, and quantities of ammunition and other articles taken. The same gang continued to the store of J. Handley, where entrance was made from the head of a stairway at the back, and a quantity of groceries were stolen. The next victim was the soft-drink parlor of M. Howe, from which a quantity of tobacco, cigarettes, etc., was taken. On Saturday night, the chicken house of Cyr & Smith's was broken into and twelve Plymouth Rock chickens were taken therefrom, and three chickens also appeared from the coop of Mrs. Stewart on Twelfth Avenue. The mounted police, with assistance of special detectives, searched a number of houses in town, and while so doing the town sleuth, Archie McLeod, "got a hunch" that something out of the ordinary was doing around York Creek and proceeded to investigate. As a result of his investigation practically all of the stolen goods were located, and a wisp's nest newly served as a trap to a party who had been suffering for some days from a sting. One of the boys was placed on the rear and made a brief confession, and the other gave himself up to Chief McLeod on Wednesday evening, and both were handed over to the mounted police. The boys were arraigned before Inspector Junger on Thursday and were sent up for trial and taken to Macleod last night.

Blairmore Red Cross

Remember the annual meeting to be held in Central Union church on Thursday, October 5th, at 7.30 p.m. A most hearty invitation is extended to everyone. A collection will be taken for the prisoners-of-war fund.

At the weekly meeting held on September 15th, $15.00 was voted to the general fund. Calgary; also $50 to the Christmas stocking fund, those stockings being a special gift from the Canadian Red Cross Society to Canadians in hospital at Christmas. Any workers having finished socks on hand are requested to leave with Mrs. Carter not later than the last day of September.

In future all Red Cross supplies will be sent to the sewing room at the public school and work will only be given out on Tuesdays. Workers are asked to make note of this.

At a special committee meeting September 15th, Miss Walsh was appointed secretary-treasurer of the local branch and Mrs. Smith's return, Mrs. Ted having resigned owing to proposed leaving town at an early date.

Anglican Church

Those who were present at the Anglican services on Sunday last will long remember the day with pleasure, it was the occasion of the visit of His Lordship the Bishop of Calgary.

Arriving in Blairmore by the morning train the Bishop preached at the morning service at 11 o'clock and afterwards celebrated Holy Communion. At the conclusion of the sermon, the Bishop congratulated the members upon the recent appearance of the church and expressed his pleasure at seeing so many things which had been given for use in the service of the church.

During the afternoon the Bishop proceeded to Coleman where he administered the Sacrament of Confirmation at 7 o'clock. The church was well filled, 115 people being present, six candidates were presented, viz., one from Hillcrest, two from Blairmore and three from Coleman. The service was most impressive and the words of the Bishop addressed principally to those to be confirmed will not soon be forgotten. The churches at Blairmore and Coleman were beautifully decorated for the occasion.

During his stay in Blairmore, the Bishop was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. F. Wright, and in Coleman, of Mr. and Mrs. E. Diney. His Lordship returned by the evening train to Calgary and before leaving said how very much he had enjoyed his visit and how pleased he was with the work going on both in Blairmore and Coleman.

Service next Sunday
Morning Prayer at 11 a.m. conducted by the Rev. H. Clay, who will preach on the subject "The Ministry of the Word."

Celebration of Holy Communion after Morning Prayer.

Sunday school as usual at 2.30 p.m.

A hearty welcome to all.

Military Ten Commandments

Readers—verse production in the trenches British soldiers, with a literary inclination, take to writing fairy tales, comic stories, parodies on German "Kulturs," and "Open Letters" addressed to such vorlone as the Crown Prince, von Hindenburg, and the Kaiser.

The other day an officer tried his hand at "improving" the ten Commandments; the nature of the attempt will be gleaned from four of the most popular "laws":
Thou shalt kill only Hussar, slugs, lice, rats and other vermin which frequent dugouts.

Thou shalt not adulterate thy section's ration tin.

Thou shalt not bear false witness in the Trench Room.

Thou shalt not covet the A.S.C.'s job, thou shalt not covet the A.S.C.'s pay, nor his motor, nor his wagon, nor his tent, nor his bullets, nor his horse, nor his ass, nor any other cushy (and) thing that is his.

The Patriotic Honor Roll

—of an honor roll of those communities which have done best for the Patriotic Fund were to be established, the village of Erinville would surely merit a prominent place in it. With a population of somewhat less than 200, Erinville has contributed to the Patriotic Fund since the first of February the sum of $768.90. It is perhaps not wise to make comparisons, as no doubt there are other places with similarly creditable showings, but if every locality responded as Erinville does, there would be no problem about raising the Patriotic Fund. How many communities will move over into the Erinville class when the big campaign starts shortly?

Women and the Farm A Mistake to Think That Women Are Capable of Hard Work

The Weekly Sun, which is published chiefly in the interest of Ontario farmers and their wives, deprecates the employment of women in the hard outdoor work of the large farm. The writer acknowledges that many country women do take work in the sun, but for many of them a share in the farm work would be a mistake.

In answer to an older contributor, the writer says that though many of the women among the farm folk who took their share of farm work and managed their homes and reared their children lived to a good old age, many others broke down under the strain, and died in what ought to have been the prime of life.

There is much truth in this contention. It is a mistake to think that women can bear as heavy burdens and lift as great weights as men can. The plow and the harrow are instruments which women should be asked to use.

On the other hand, young women can do much of the lighter work of farm and garden with advantage to their health. The wife and mother who cares for her children and keeps the house has little time for outdoor work, however she may like it. If the farmer were as generous about procuring for his home labor-saving machinery as he is about buying tools for his own occupations, country housewives would have more leisure than they have now. The old idea that woman is a helpmate for man is the true one. Rivalry, or even independence is not natural. Men and women were meant to work together not only on the farm but in business, in the church and in the home. We should not have needed a war to prove that woman's work is the complement of men's. When it is over there are many who fear that women will insist on occupying the places in which they have found employment. Where this is necessary, as in the case of those who have disabled themselves in the war, the government should claim the right to earn high wages, not the majority of women who are only too glad to return to their household duties. One thing may be hoped, and that is that there will be no more life, neither here nor there, thousands of women have learned the hardihood that comes of service.

Murphy was in the hospital and had undergone an operation. As he was recovering he remarked to the patient on his right.

"I am thankful that's over," "Oh!" exclaimed the patient, "and my operation the doctor left the scissors inside and I had to undergo the same again."

The patient on the left remarked that as his operation was over he had been left and had to be gone over again.

Just as they had finished talking the doctor appeared at the door and said: "This anyone seen my patient?"

It was then that Murphy faintly.

WIFE TOO TO WORK IN BED MOST OF TIME

Her Health Restored by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Indianapolis, Indiana.—"My health was so poor and my constitution so run down that I could not work. I was thin, pale and weak, weighed but 100 pounds and was laid most of the time. I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and three months later I weighed 138 pounds. I do all the housework and washing for eleven and as truthfully as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been doing to me for I would have been in my grave today but for it. I would tell you how I am suffering as I was to try your valuable remedy."—Mrs. Wm. GREEN, 382 E. Valuable Addition To Canada's Wealth Stefansson Makes Valuable Copper Discoveries in the Arctic Region

The discovery by the Canadian Arctic expedition headed by Vilhjalmur Stefansson, of a great field of copper in the vicinity of Coppermine River, in the neighborhood of the Arctic Albers Land, is one of great value to the business world, says Dr. Chester A. Reeds of the National Museum of Natural History. Dr. Reeds believed also that it will afford scientists an opportunity for displaying their ingenuity in finding an outlet from a region that is still unsung in a commercial sense. The work of the party is expected to prove valuable in determining the direction of winds and the movement of ice in the Polar region. Dr. Reeds said this work might go a long way to prove or disprove the theory that an unknown continent exists in the great unexplored region north of Alaska and west and northwest of Greenland.

BABY'S GREAT DANGER DURING HOT WEATHER

More little ones die during the hot weather than at any other time of the year. Diarrhoea, dysentery, cholera infantum, and other stomach troubles come without warning, and when it comes it is often fatal. It is especially prompt the short delay too frequently means that the child has passed beyond aid. Baby's New Tablets should always be kept in hand, and used at the first sign of trouble. The occasional dose of the Tablets will cure the trouble. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25c per box, six boxes for $1.50. Write to Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

When Will Peace Come?

When will peace come? It will come when Germany is ready for it. The time is approaching. It will come when Germany has learned the lesson that every other nation has had to learn. The world is not to be defied with impunity. It will come when Germany is ready to respect the person and the principles that made the war inevitable, when the militarists and the Chauvinists have become a despised and rejected remnant. It will come when Germany says: "To you we listened, and you have obeyed; to you we have sacrificed, and you have taken the lives of our sons and our husbands and our fathers, and you have killed the sons of our ancestors, and our own brave men. You have offered us wealth and power and the kingdoms of the world, and we accepted your gifts. But you have not kept your word. For them we have bled, and you have not kept your word. You have returned but hunger and cold and nakedness, and death."—Nineteenth Century.

There is more Canada in this section of the world than in any other. It is a land of great resources, and it is a land of great promise. It is a land of great beauty, and it is a land of great wealth. It is a land of great power, and it is a land of great glory. It is a land of great hope, and it is a land of great faith. It is a land of great love, and it is a land of great mercy. It is a land of great peace, and it is a land of great joy.

This old house, which is one of the oldest in the city, was built by Nathaniel, and was made famous by the harbor, with its many ships, and its many people. The house faces the south. Its east end is on the water, and its west end is on the land. The house is built of brick, and its roof is of slate. The house is a fine example of the architecture of the city.

The house was built in 1669 by John Turner, a Salem merchant. The third John Turner sold the house in 1782 to Captain Samuel Ingersoll. Mrs. Ingersoll was a Hawthorne and a cousin to Hawthorne's father. The house is a picture-perfect example of its brick chimneys all attract the visitor who journeys to this historic spot.

Loss Through Shipping Dirty Grain. About 40 per cent. of the cleanings removed from grain at the terminal elevators consist of fine dirt and gravel of passing through a zinc screen. This material is sold for $1.50 per ton. This means that 40,000 tons of grain each year are shipped the graver pays the freight and for which he gets no return. This represents a loss of a quarter of a million dollars. The grain is sold for $1.50 per ton. These fine seeds were removed before the grain is shipped. The Years That Tell

Critical Years When Character of Youth is Molded. That is when the greatest change takes place in a boy from 15 to 25. The ten months between these ages bring about changes that are never noticeable thereafter. From 25 to 35 makes little difference so far as appearances are concerned, nor does any other decade render one so completely unrecognizable.

Dr. dropped into the office the other day—a boy we had never seen for ten years. At 15 he was thin and awkward; at 25 he was full rounded and manly. As a boy he was not expected to be a promising player, ordinary every day boy, who hesitated when he spoke, twisted his eyes away from you when you addressed him, paid little attention to his dress and tried to avoid your gaze as squarely in the face as he spoke, was careful in his apparel and was a plain, clear and sensible business to you as long as you had anything of importance to talk about. The ten years had done the business.

So to our boy was 25 now well upon his way, headed in the right direction, manly and promising. He had emerged from boyhood into manhood with full steam and well trimmed. The boy who was so shy and shrouded in mystery, for there were feet and barriers all around him, was now a man, a man of action and steam. He had a clear and steady eye, and he had the same same as he is. He was a man of action and steam. He had a clear and steady eye, and he had the same same as he is.

Wet and Dry Periods Come Alternately

And Have Been Doing So For Three Centuries

Among the more notable investigations of the climate of past centuries are those that have been made by the late Sir James Spenser St. John, and his conclusions are based on historical records of Europe, and on the results of a long and careful study of the climate of the world. He has found that the climate of the world has been changing for centuries, and that the changes have been alternating between wet and dry periods.

In the past 100 years there have been exceptionally wet seasons and exceptionally dry seasons. In the 19th century there were several exceptionally wet years, notably 1812, 1815 and 1816, and 1817 and 1818. In the 20th century there have been several exceptionally dry years, notably 1902, 1903, 1904, 1905, 1906, 1907, 1908, 1909, 1910, 1911, 1912, 1913, 1914, 1915, 1916, 1917, 1918, 1919, 1920, 1921, 1922, 1923, 1924, 1925, 1926, 1927, 1928, 1929, 1930, 1931, 1932, 1933, 1934, 1935, 1936, 1937, 1938, 1939, 1940, 1941, 1942, 1943, 1944, 1945, 1946, 1947, 1948, 1949, 1950, 1951, 1952, 1953, 1954, Coleman Editor Still Alive

The article below appeared in an issue of the Coleman Blairmore which appeared on Monday of this week. In order that the reading public may have an opportunity of seeing it, we reproduce it in full so that they may be given another opportunity to size up the contemptible individual who is trying to control the destiny of the newspaper at Coleman and treat the people of that fair town with the same gift as was tolerated for a short period by the citizens of Pincher Creek. We take pleasure at any time in reproducing any knock the editor of The Blairmore feels disposed to hand out, but no greater favor could our esteemed contemporary confer upon us.

In regard to the item which this issue contains per verbiage takes exception, we must say that it contains absolute facts and it was in the best interests of the people of The Pass in general that we were obliged to make reference to what the public considered a wasteful expenditure of money. The roads in this district are in need of every cent that can be raised to spend on them and for every day's wage it is reasonable to expect at least the result of a full day's work.

As far as knocking Coleman is concerned, it is only an individual of the narrow qualities of Editor Norman who could ever conceive such an idea. We have on one or two previous occasions challenged Editor Norman or any citizen of Coleman to prove such insinuations. We have never attempted to knock Coleman as a town, and that challenge still lies open.

Herein Editor Norman's editorial:

The following item appeared in a recent issue of the Blairmore Katzenbach: "The department of public works should perhaps be commended for their plans to reconstruct and for their intention of 'The Crown's West Pass' a Coleman man has been appointed, who engages Coleman men and means to work on the slide road. The outside labor Coleman got of about 15 cents and found the slide road opening to leaving for home after dark. The work they were engaged in was paid in a fortnight by this method could be accomplished by his men, but in a week. The public are paying dearly for this work, and should rise in protest against this scheme."

The Enterprise would be quite justified in drawing attention to any apparent dishonesty on the part of the men who are in the employ of the Government, but in doing so it should adhere to facts and not rush into idle and sometimes exaggerated. In this instance it appears to be true that the men have been travelling to and from their work on the Government's time, but they do not leave Coleman at eight o'clock in the morning, neither do they leave their work at four in the afternoon. Misrepresentation of this sort always sets a bad example and in this case it is so unnecessary and so glaring that it clearly and unambiguously points the way to the real cause of The Enterprise's grouch.

In the past our contemporary has evidenced little or no concern of how public funds were being expended. Now it is concerned now. The cause of its ignorance is to be found in the fact that Coleman man has been suggested to keep the roads through The Pass in repair. That is where the shoe pinches—and it hurts so much that you can hear the agonized groans of this chronic knacker in every line of the above item. It is ever thus.

"No good thing can come from Coleman."

Why, this knock article is so bitter against our busy city that had we even put the Coleman girls in the Blairmore Every time we see the name "Coleman" in print, or notes any sign of Coleman enterprise in any form he agrees to be seized with a paroxysm of frenzy and bitterness. It is most pitiful.

In this particular case, however, one or two rather important points seem to have been overlooked. The slide road has been in existence for about a decade, and it has never been satisfactory. Also the town of Blairmore draws considerable trade from points over the slide, while Coleman gets very little, if any.

Under these conditions one would expect to see the Enterprise leading an agitation for a new or an improved road over the slide. But do we? Nothing of the kind. Never a word from that source. Instead, when improvements are being made to that road—may, none, when what is virtually the main street of Blairmore is being repaired by the Government—almost entirely as a result of the exertions and enterprise of Coleman citizens, the Enterprise—what a minor—digs up a little old hammer and continues to knock. We suppose that was generally known that the same Coleman influence and the same Coleman enterprise, which is situated solely by a desire to obtain a first-class road through The Pass, was now agitating for a new road over the slide, north of the track, our contemporary would not get a bigger hammer and knock will be louder.

The Blairmore is convinced, however, that the Enterprise speaks only for itself and one other. Otherwise it would suggest that the same Coleman enterprise and the same Coleman influence, which has secured the granting by Coleman men of a BLAIRMORE road could not have the men transferred to the west end of The Pass, where there is need of such laborers—that is, if the province of Coleman road makers in the Blairmore landscape has such a depressing influence on the northwestern sensibility of the man who wields the hammer on the Blairmore Enterprise.

Thus ends the editorial.

Distribution of Seed

Grain and Potatoes

By instructions of the Hon. Minister of Agriculture a distribution of superior sorts of grain and potatoes will be made during the coming winter and spring to Canadian farmers. The samples for general distribution will consist of spring wheat (about 1 lb.), white oats (about 4 lbs.), barley (about 5 lbs.), and field peas (about 5 lbs.). These will be sent out from Ottawa. A distribution of potatoes to samples of about 3 lbs. will be carried on from several of the experimental farms. The Central Farm at Ottawa supplying only the province of Ontario and Quebec. All samples will be sent free by mail.

Only one sample of grain and one of potatoes can be sent to each farm. As the supply of seed is limited, farmers are advised to apply early. Requests received after the end of December will probably be too late. Anyone desiring a sample should write (post free) to the Dominion Controller, Experimental Farms, Ottawa, for an application blank.

Keep Your Own
Town Busy

Whenever your personal habits and opinions tend to decrease the commercial prosperity of your home city and surrounding country, your own leisure in turn will be bound to suffer depreciation. Any policy which has a tendency to injure your neighbor will in time react upon you. It is better to be a busy citizen than a busy body.

What would be the result if everybody in your town were to come to work and stay away from home and purchase all their supplies? You know it is a poor rule that won't prove, and it is a poor thing for one to do, it must certainly be equally profitable for all. Suppose you all did, what would follow? All the fine large stores in your own town would close and you would witness a daily decrease in population and an enormous shrinking in real estate values. And then you'd have a new side little problem to solve.

Keep the stores in your city busy. Make them better by boosting for them and making for home trade. You can be proud of your own town. Anything you can possibly do to increase the volume of business done in your community is bound to react to your own individual benefit, because increased business volume means increased property values, which in turn means larger returns, and the consequent benefits which follow in every progressive community.

Some people are of the prejudiced opinion that if they spend their money at home it simply goes to make one of the local merchants a little richer, and would have absolutely no other results. They think that all movements to encourage a spirit of loyalty to home institutions are based on the purely selfish interests of the merchants promoting the campaign, who want to gather all the money in sight for their own individual benefit.

They are unable to see that better business conditions in their town would in reality work just the other way. The word "home trade" that there was a live home trade city, progressive and up-to-date merchants from all over the country would soon seek locations there to share in the prosperity created by a loyal devotion to the spirit of home patronage; thus creating new competition which could only tend to lower rather than increase the profits of the merchants who created the ball rolling—Calgary Herald.

An item in a London newspaper recently spoke of 30,000 soldiers, "the pick of Canada from the towns and prairies between British Columbia and Vancouver," which was a geographical error, and which, furthermore, goes to prove that they make mistakes in "English" newspapers as they lay in Canadian, and those of other countries, too. The reporter or proof-reader must be from New Brunswick.

People in the vicinity of Bouvaine Lake, near Pincher Creek, have been missing calves and yearlings for some time and have since concluded that their losses were due to a bear. Early last year a patriotic grocer in a small Scottish village decided that either he or his assistant must go. And as he himself was single, his mother and sisters being well provided for from their share in the shop, he thought he was the more suited. Mackay, the assistant, agreed promptly, and presently found himself in command of the business. But, a few months later the master was dumfounded to meet his late assistant, attired in khaki, "somewhere in France." "Hie, mou!" he said angrily, "did I 'no' tell ye to stay at home in charge o' me shop?" "So thocht at the time, master," replied Mackay.
